

“A stone’s throw from the unspoilt and picturesque coastline of South Devon”

Start Bay is part of the Field Studies Council, an environmental education charity dedicated to helping people of all ages to experience the environment at first hand; to discover, explore and be inspired by the natural world. It is a separate self-contained property situated at the top of the village, surrounded by beautiful countryside.

The beach is about a mile from the centre with a steep gradient down. Coaches cannot access the village or Slapton Sands through the village. From the Start Bay Centre, you can access the ancient woodland (only accessible to people who stay on site). The property sleeps 41 guests in eight bedrooms, with a large, secluded and enclosed garden including a low ropes course, pond and barbecue area.

The building and village also feature in Michael Morpugo’s book Adolphus Tips. It was once used as a school which closed in the 70’s. The Field Studies Council bought the property from Devon County Council in 2011 and it hosts the majority of our primary school residentials, self-catering and venue hire.

Start Bay is a stone’s throw from the unspoilt and picturesque coastline of South Devon. It is located on the Start Bay coast and is surrounded by the 210-hectare Slapton Ley National Nature Reserve that includes the 4km long Slapton Sands beach and the largest freshwater lake in the Southwest.

All types of bookings are welcome including singles, couples, groups of adults, families and extended family groups on a self-catering basis. However, please note that we do not accept stag or hen parties.
